Detailed Contents

Preface x

1. Introduction 1
   Venturing Into the Past: Murphy’s Monoplane 2
   Concept #1: Focus on the Process of Change, Not Just Difference 4
   Concept #2: History Does Not Move in One Direction 5
   Concept #3: Examine Rhetoric and Reality, Ideas and Practice 6
   Organization of This Book 8
   References 10

2. The Challenge of Policing, 1830s–1920s 11
   Police in the Nineteenth-Century United States 12
   The Work of Police at the Turn of the Twentieth Century 15
   Problems of Corruption and Violence 19
   Police Reform—External and Internal 21
   Case Studies in Criminal Justice: James Couzens, Detroit Police Commissioner 26
   Crime Prevention and Social Improvement 27
   What’s the Evidence?: Annual Reports of Police Departments 32
   Campaigns for Crime Control 33
      State and Federal Policing 35
      Challenges to Local Policing 38
      The Dynamics of Reform 41
   References 42

3. Progressivism and the Courts, 1890s–1920s 45
   Nineteenth-Century Courts 46
   The Criminal Justice Wedding Cake 47
The Roots of Professionalization 153
What’s the Evidence?: Popular Culture 159
New Research Perspectives: The Field
  Research Explosion 162
Time to Count 167
Coda: The President’s Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice 170
References 171

7. Liberalism’s Twin Revolutions, 1930–1970s 176
  The Rehabilitative Ideal 177
    The Medical Model at Work: Three Cases 184
    The Critique of the Medical Model and the Rehabilitative Ideal 187
  What’s The Evidence?: Program Evaluations 189
  The Judicial Revolution 191
  Case Studies in Criminal Justice: Clarence Earl Gideon,
    Criminal Defendant 194
    The Rights of People Accused of Crimes 197
    The Death Penalty 199
    The Judicial Revolution in Juvenile Justice 202
  Conclusion 206
  References 206

8. The Expanding Federal State, 1920s–1990s 210
  The Growth of the FBI and the War on Crime 211
  Case Studies in Criminal Justice: Melvin Purvis,
    FBI Agent 219
  Alcatraz and the War on Crime 220
  The FBI, Domestic Security, and Civil Rights 223
    The FBI and Anticommunism 225
    The FBI and Civil Rights 227
    The FBI Campaign Against Radical Subversion 229
  The Long War on Drugs 231
  What’s The Evidence?: Federal Records 236
  The Expanded Federal Role in Criminal Justice After 1970 238
  Conclusion 241
  References 242

  The Scale of Mass Incarceration 246
  The Origins of Mass Incarceration 248
    Increased Fear of Crime 249
What’s the Evidence?: Official Crime Data 251
  Political Change 253
  Intellectual Shifts 256
  Mandatory Sentencing 258
  The War on Drugs 260
  Victim’s Rights and Women’s Rights 263
Changes in Criminal Justice 266
  Juvenile Crime and Juvenile Justice 266
Case Studies in Criminal Justice: Willie Bosket, Criminal Offender 270
  The Return of the Death Penalty 272
  Changes in Policing 275
Conclusion 279
References 280

10. American Criminal Justice in Global Context, 1800s–2000s 283
  Early Transnational Systems 285
  Modernization, Colonialism and the Homogenization of Criminal Justice 291
  Global Criminal Justice in the Cold War Era 296
  Controlling Illicit Enterprise in a Post–Cold War World 300
  What’s the Evidence?: Estimates of Crime 304
References 308

Index 312

About the Authors 343