Detailed Contents

Preface xiii

Chapter 1. Introduction 1
   Early Accounts of Profiling 2
   Origins of Modern Profiling 4
   The Mad Bomber Case 5
   FOCUS 1.1 METESKY AND THE MEDIA 6
   The Brussels Legacy 9
   FOCUS 1.2 BARNU STATEMENTS 10
   The Boston Strangler 13
The Five Areas of Behavioral Profiling 15
   Crime Scene Profiling 16
   Geographic Profiling 17
   Psychological Profiling 17
   Suspect-Based Profiling 18
   Equivocal Death Analysis 18
Summary and Conclusions 19

Chapter 2. Crime Scene Profiling 21
   Early FBI Profiling Origins 22
   The Behavioral Science Unit and the NCAVC 23
   FOCUS 2.1 NATIONAL CENTER FOR ANALYSIS OF VIOLENT CRIMES (NCAVC) 23
   Two Seminal Articles 25
   Table 2.1 Profile Characteristics of Organized vs. Disorganized Offenders as Classified by the FBI in 1985 28
   Table 2.2 Crime Scene Differences Between Organized and Disorganized Offenders as Classified by the FBI 28
   The Douglas and Ressler Interviews 29
   Further Development of the O/D Dichotomy 30
The Crime Classification Manual 32
   FOCUS 2.2 CULT MURDER 32
Crime Scene Profiling Today 33
   Profiling Terminology 35
   Case Linkage 37
   Additional Research on Crime Scene Profiling 38
Chapter 3. Scientific Approaches to Crime Scene Profiling

Misconceptions About Profiling

Table 3.1 Misconceptions and Reality with Respect to Profiling

Making the Case for Scientific Profiling

The Beginnings of Scientific Crime Scene Profiling

Origins of Investigative Psychology

Focus 3.1 Searching for the Railway Rapist

Investigative Psychology Today

Clinical Versus Actuarial Profiling Revisited

Police Psychology Versus Profiling

Research Questions

The Behavioral Features

Distinguishing Between Offenders and Crimes

Inferring Characteristics

Linking Crimes

Focus 3.2 The Violent Crime Linkage Analysis System (ViCLAS)

Psychological Signatures

The Person–Situation Debate

The A → C Equation

Focus 3.3 What’s in a Profile Report?

Behavioral Investigative Analysts in the United Kingdom

Contemporary Theories in Criminology

Table 3.2 Implications of Crime Theories for Profiling

Developmental Pathways in Offending Patterns

Application to Profiling

Developmental and Maturation Changes in Offenders

Application to Profiling

Deficient Interpersonal Skills and Peer Rejection

Application to Profiling

Offending Patterns of Criminal Psychopaths

Application to Profiling

Potential Error Problems in Scientific Profiling

Heuristics

Representative Heuristic Errors
Chapter 4. Geographic Profiling and Mapping

Geographic Mapping

Theoretical Foundations and Early History

Routine Activity Theory

Rational Choice Theory

History of Geographic Profiling

Geographic Profiling Software

Measures of Accuracy

Key Concepts in Geographic Profiling

Distance Decay

Focus 4.1 ATF Criminal and Geographic Profiling Program

Recent Research on Geographic Profiling

Simple Heuristics May Be Better Than Computer Programs

Focus 4.10 Mean Error Distance (MM) After Baseline and Retest for the Control, Circle, and Decay Groups, and CrimeStat

Computer Models Try to Get Better Through Bayesian Methods

Summary and Conclusions

Chapter 5. Profiling Applied to Specific Crimes

Profiling in Child Abduction Cases

The Numbers
Focus 5.1 CARD Teams

AMBER Alert 132
The Victims 135
The Offenders 136

Profiling in Serial Murder Cases 137
The Numbers 137
The Victims 138
The Offenders 140
Criminal Background 141

Focus 5.2 The FBI Serial Murder Symposium

Serial Killer Typologies 144
The Holmes-DeBurger Serial Killer Typology 145
Role of the Victim 148

Profiling in Serial Rape Cases 149
The Numbers 149
The Victims 150
Victim Selection 150
False Allegations 152
The Offenders 153
The Massachusetts Treatment Center Classification System 154

Figure 5.1 Massachusetts Treatment Center Classification System

Opportunistic Rapists (Types 1 and 2) 154
Pervasively Angry Rapists (Type 3) 155
Sexually Motivated, Sadistic Rapists (Types 4 and 5) 155
Sexually Motivated, Nonsadistic Rapists (Types 6 and 7) 156
Vindictive Rapists (Types 8 and 9) 157

Canter’s Levels of Violation and Themes of Rape 158

Profiling in Serial Arson Cases 159
The Numbers 159
The Victims 159
The Offenders 160
Firefighter Arson 160

Focus 5.3 Fire Investigator- Turned- Arsonist 160
Juvenile Firesetters 161
Serial Arsonists 162

Table 5.1 Four Themes of Arson 163
Pyromania 165

Profiling Serial Burglars 165
The Numbers 165
The Offenders 166

Table 5.2 The Four Themes of Burglary 167
Pilferers 167
Raiders 167
Intruders 167
Invaders 168

Summary and Conclusions 169
Chapter 6. Psychological Profiling: A Focus on Threat and Risk Assessment

A Brief History of Psychological Profiling

Threat Assessment

Threat Assessment and School Violence

Profiling School Shooters

Table 6.1 Early Warning Signs of Violence

The Safe School Initiative (SSI)

School Threat Assessment Teams

Table 6.2 Prediction Table

Adult School Shooters

Figure 6.1 Decision Tree for Student Threat Assessment

Psychological Characteristics of Student School Shooters

Workplace Violence

Statistics on Serious Workplace Violence

Categories of Workplace Violence

The Warning Signs

Table 6.3 Employee Warning Signs of Potential Workplace Violence

Behaviors and Characteristics That May Predict Workplace Violence

Violence Risk Assessment

Dynamic and Static Risk Factors in Prediction

Stalking

Prevalence

Risk Assessment of Stalking Violence

Stalking Typologies

The RECON Typology

Table 6.4 RECON Typology

The Mullen et al. Typology

When Does Stalking Usually Stop?

Current Research in the Development of Risk Assessment of Stalkers

Summary and Conclusions

Chapter 7. Suspect-Based Profiling

Racial Profiling

The Drug Courier Profile

Terrorism

Who Are the Terrorists?

Profiling Terrorists

Lone Wolf Terrorists

Summary

Passenger Profiling

Early Attempts at Passenger Profiling in the 1970s

Suspect-Based Profiling Based on Behavioral Patterns

CAPPS and CAPPS II

Secure Flight

Terrorist Screening Database (TSDB)
|Focus 9.3 Consultant vs. Consultant: The Sheppard Case | 273 |
| Focus 9.4 From the Prison Cell: The Drake Case | 275 |
| Crime Scene Profiling in the Courtroom | 277 |
| Linkage Analysis in the Courtroom | 277 |
| The Pennell Case | 277 |
| The Fortin Case | 278 |
| Motivations of Offenders and Psychological Characteristics | 280 |
| The Masters Case | 282 |
| The Psychological Autopsy | 283 |
| Ultimate Issue Testimony | 285 |
| Summary and Conclusions | 286 |

References 289

Photo Credits 321

Index 322

About the Authors 346